BIG CAPITALIST COMING.

President of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. will Arrive Here.

Dr. Mollath one of the party of capitalists who were here last fall, writing to the editor of the Miner from New Haven, Conn., encloses a clipping from the New York Sun, which he says ought to interest Miner readers. The clipping is as follows:

GREATSINGER TO RESIGN.

"It was reported this morning that Jacob L. Greatsinger was about to resign the presidency of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Railway company in order to devote himself exclusively to the promotion of his recently acquired mining interests in the Rainy River district, Ontario. When seen at his office this morning, Mr. Greatsinger would neither deny nor affirm the report.

"Mr. Greatsinger and Peter Kimberly, who are associated as representatives of the Roswell, P. Flower estate, together with B. W. and B. R. Folger of Kingston, Ontario, are believed to have secured options on 1,000 acres of gold mining lands in the Rainy River district which they intend to purchase and develop. The Ontario School of Mines is said to have reported a mill run test of ore from this property which assayed $20 to the ton—a very high figure."

Commenting on the above excerpt Dr. Mollath says:

"Personally I have no doubt that these assertions are well founded, and when you think that Mr. Greatsinger represents the interests of the wealthy Governor Roswell Flower Estate which owns the controlling interest in the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Railway Coy. (capital $45,000,000. The Chicago People's Gas, Light and Coke Coy. (capital $23,000,000) and the Chicago and Rock Island Railway Coy., you can easily imagine what it means if such powerful capitalists enter your district actively. It is my opinion that such a step will bring a boom to the new Ontario Gold fields.

Dr. Mollath is himself heavily interested in mining properties in this country and is a director in the Twentieth Century Gold Mining Co., now operating a mine in the district.

WILL GET A GOLD MEDAL.

Captain Macmillan of the Titanic Rewarded for Heroism.

Captain Macmillan of the Titanic, who was in charge of the rescue party which saved the lives of the crew of the s.s. Titanic, in successfully shipping a spare propeller at sea.

In reply to their representations the Guild have received a letter from Col. Hozier, the secretary of Lloyd's, stating that they have now decided to confer Lloyd's gold medal for meritorious services upon the master, third officer and boatswain of the Titanic.

The gallant Captain Macmillan is a brother of Manager Macmillan, of the Mikado mine, and seeing that the captain does not sail over here, and that we cannot therefore express to him our admiration of his brilliant exploit, we hasten to do the next best thing, which is to congratulate Manager Macmillan upon having such a brother.

The Fraser Barn Fire.

Fire was discovered in the office of Fraser's livery barn, second street, at 2 o'clock on Monday morning by two men who had just returned from a journey with a hired horse and cutter. There was no one in the building at the time, and one of the men very promptly took steps to quench the fire with a pail and a barrel of water.

Chief Woods and a citizens' committee investigated the matter yesterday morning and came to the conclusion that the fire was of undoubted incendiary origin, as quantities of inflammable material, soaked in coal-oil were found near the place where the fire originated. The matter is now in the hands of the police.

Had the incendiaries been successful in their attempt to destroy the building Mr. Fraser would have been almost ruined as he only had $1,200 on his stock, valued at $6,000. The building belongs to Mr. Wm. Clougher.

PRAISES OUR BRIGADE.

Industrial Review: In looking back to the destruction of valuable property by fire in Rat Portage during the past few weeks, it is satisfactory to note that the Board of Trade of the town have shown conclusively to the underwriters that the town was supplied with adequate fire protection. When fire has secured a good hold upon a dry building, in the construction of which wood has largly been used, the best equipped fire service can do little else than save adjoining property. Under the conditions that prevailed when the Hilliard House and the Queen's Hotel were destroyed, bitter cold and high wind, the Rat Portage Fire Brigade accomplished all that could be done. The fire occurred under very similar circumstances to those attending the destruction of the Manitoba Hotel, in Winnipeg, a building

CLOTHING STORE BURNT.

Mr. Young's Stock Completely Destroyed by Fire.

Fire broke out in the Lake of the Woods clothing house at 5 o'clock Sunday morning, and before the blaze was gotten under control the $10,000 stock of the establishment was a total loss, and damage to the extent of $500 was done to the solid brick block in which the clothing house carried on business.

Mr. Young is of the opinion that the fire was of incendiary origin, and gives as his reason for this suspicion, the following circumstances:

Last year his store was burglarized and an individual was convicted for the offense and sent to Central Prison. Saturday a member of the burglar gang was seen in town again. When the fire broke out a valise filled with clothing was missed from the store, and the blinds were pulled down although Mr. Young left them up when he quitted the store on Saturday night.

The fire was first discovered by Mr. Wm. McRitchie who sent in the alarm to which the brigade responded with great promptness. The splendid water service together with the businesslike method of the brigade soon had the flames under control and they were successful in confining the fire to the section of the block in which it was discovered. The News office on the east and the confectionery store of Mr. Morrison suffered slightly by smoke and water but the damage is trifling.

The loss on Young's stock is in the the neighborhood of $10,000; and the insurance is $5,000, $2,500 in the Manchester, and $2,500 in the Anglo American. The damage to the building which is owned by Messrs. Hose and McLeod, is fully covered by insurance in the Sun as is also the damage to the stock of the News Coy., and Mr. J. Morrison.

JESSIE MacLACHLAN CONCERT.

The Jessie Macheklan concert in the Hilliard Opera House on Wednesday evening will be one of the most treats ever given to a Rat Portage audience. The following are brief extracts from the press:

"She was dressed in a white satin gown with a tartan plaid over the left shoulder, and her stage appearance was captivating. [Miss MacLachlan gave as one of her songs "Down Ye-Sea Cushions." In this song she displayed a wonderful control of her voice. In the song 'A Hundred Pipers,' she raised the enthusiasm of the audience to the highest pitch. The audience was completely overcome by her rendition of that song."—Halifax.

"There never was heard in St. John a concert so thoroughly enjoyed by so many people as was that at the Opera house last night. Miss MacLachlan's wonderful intensity and dramatic power. She is a great singer, giving with all her soul the songs of the land she loves."—The Daily Telegraph, St. John, N.B.

"Miss MacLachlan's song of such songs as 'Angus McDonald,' 'A Hundred Pipers,' and other well known Scottish airs fairly inspired the audience. Miss MacLachlan has a wonderful facial control, and in many parts is just as much an actress as singer. In 'A Hundred Pipers' the amount of pith, meaning and expression she put into her voice and face took the audience off their feet."

Music Hall, Aberdeen.—Miss MacLachlan is a host in herself. Nothing could be finer as an expression of sentiment than the appearance of her heart and soul in her singing of 'Annie McDonald,' 'Clan Ye By Athol' and 'Coming Thro' the Rye,' and the almost divinely beautiful 'Caller Herrin.' 'He, So, My Bonnie Haired Maiden.'"—Aberdeen Free Press.

These are only a few of the critiques in this connection. Don't miss hearing Johnson's Phonograph Concert. Popular prices. Secure your seats.

Captain Macmillan, of the Tirona Reward [illegible] Lloyd's

Had Kipling written his "Captains of the Seven Seas" at the opening of an ocean liner putting a new record on her ship in motion he would have won admiration for a brilliant imagination, but the public would have read the lines as a wild stretch of fancy. Kipling's famous Scotch marine engineers never did anything so wonderful as that feat of Captain Macmillan's, an account of which we published some weeks ago in these columns, copying the narrative from a Buenos Ayres newspaper. The sequel to the story is now just to hand in the shape of a clipping from a London, Eng., newspaper of January 20th which is as follows:

"The Merchant Service Guild have laid before the committee of Lloyd's the achievement of Captain John Macmillan and certain members of the have shown conclusively to the underwriters that the town was supplied with adequate fire protection. When fire has secured a good hold upon a dry building, in the construction of which solid logs largely figured, the best equipped fire service can do little else than save adjoining property. Under the conditions that prevailed when the Hilliard House and the Queen's Hotel were destroyed, blazing sand on a high wind, the Rat Portage Fire Brigade accomplished all that could be done. The fire occurred under very similar circumstances to those attending the destruction of the Manitoba Hotel, in Winnipeg, a building designed to be fire proof, and in the latter all the resources of the whole Winnipeg staff only availed to protect surrounding property. It is to be hoped that the town will possess enough resiliency to recover speedily from the loss."

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Rainy River Navigation Co. was held at Rat Portage on Thursday, Feb. 15th, at which it was declared and a satisfactory one not carried to rest account.

The following gentlemen were elected directors: John Bertram, Walter Ross, Andrew Thompson, Clifford Lewis and Geo. A. Graham. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. Geo. A. Graham was elected president and Manager, Mr. Walter Ross, vice-president, and Mr. M. McCulloch, secretary and treasurer.

KIPKING'S CRITICS.

The reference in Kipling's latest poem to sports continues to call forth sarcastic and other comment. The Westminister Gazette says:

"The list of British sports to which Mr. Kipling has recently made such graceful allusion is unfortunately very incomplete. The following lines will (possibly) be inserted in future editions."

The rubber-shod tough with a racquet; the joss on the asphalted path.
The half-witted hurler of hammers the lubber that leaps at the lath.
The ruffian riding in red, and the gaby in gaiters that shoots.
The fatuous flapper of flies and the scoundrel with skates on his boots:
The loon that loafs on the links with his lingo of "lies" and "the like,"
The blundering bent-backed bounder that buckets along on a bike.
The bare-legged boobies in boots, each bent on becoming a "blue,"
The cross headed crocks playing croquet, and the crapulous cad with a cue.
The maniacs mounted on motors that murder a man every mile.
(And I think that you will freely admit that I've bettered my earlier style.)

HANDS UP, PAID!

The Underwriters' Association are introducing a new game, known as heads I win and tails you lose. They have decided to raise the insurance rates 50 per cent. because they have had to pay out a few of the many thousands of dollars they have received every year from this town for a score of years. If John Smith has a fire they have decided that Tom Jones must pay for it; overlooking the fact altogether that it is the insurance companies and not Tom Jones who is paid for taking the risk. If this is not organized highway robbery we would like some one to point out to us the genuine article. There is a cure for this kind of thing, viz., provincial or municipal insurance, and it rests with the people to take the matter up and get special legislation passed for the purpose. Enough money could be made out of insurance in this town to pay for our fire protection and half our general taxes.

PROHIBITION BILL.

Premier Ross introduces a liquor bill on the lines of the Manitoba Act.

A referendum on the measure fixed for October 11th.

In order to carry, A majority of the votes cast in the Provincial elections 1902 must be given in favor of the measure.

The Provincial voters' lists will be used.

Act to be effective in May 1903, if carried.

Compensation [illegible] in the vent, but the Premier declines in favor of the principle.

Premier Ross' bill defines as prohibited liquor all fermented, spirituous or malt liquors, and all drinkable liquors which are intoxicating.

Druggists' wholesale and retail licenses may be issued for the sale of these in specified quantities.

Under a wholesale license alcohol to the quantity of five gallons may be sold to any person for mechanical and scientific purposes, and "liquor" to the quantity of five gallons to any physician or retail druggist.

Under a retail license a druggist may sell liquor to private individuals under certain prescriptions. Dentists may be allowed to every head of a family, with 100 acres additional for every child, besides paying $30 a month to every Boer who stays in the country. Free building material and medical attendance are also offered. Here is an excellent chance not only for the beligerent Boers but also for the Cape Colony Dutch who are disaffected. The Boers might do well down there, and South Africa would certainly not lament their departure.

The official nomenclature expert at Ottawa, on being requested to suggest a name for the town in the event of a change, sends the word "Manitaha" which means to carry upon the shoulders over a portage. This word would do for Any town as well as ours, for it does not signify anything for which Rat Portage is already famous. We want something meaning gold fields and water falls, and summer resort all that kind of thing, else "Rat Portage" might just as well remain, as it is not more meaningless than the name suggested at Ottawa.

A gruesome story comes from Chicago in an account of a fire at Bennets hospital. The firemen rushed into the burning building and succeeded in rescuing six persons whom they thought were partly asphixiated, instead of which, the firemen had gone into the dissecting room and carried out six pickled corpses. This would be one of the occasions when a fireman would be justified in augmenting his vocabulary by the addition of certain expletives generally tabooed in good society in order to express his indignation over being transformed into a photograph of 30 cents, and no doubt he guessed good and hard."

Judge Arnold, of Philadelphia, has ruled that suicide or attempted suicide is not an offence, and, in dismissing a man who appeared before him on a charge of taking laudanum with intent to kill himself, said:

He doubted if there is such an offence in this country as attempted suicide. The Law emanated, he said, from monarchs where they were kings and Emperors who adopted the theory that it was wrong for a man to kill himself and thus reduce the number of the king's subjects. The judge added that a man's life belonged to himself and his Creator, and he did not know but that the man had a right to kill himself if he so desired.

This will be gratifying news to those Philadelphians who wish to commit suicide, for they may kill themselves hereafter without being put in gaol for it.

Great Heritage of Canadians—Their Country is Second to None on the Face of the Globe—European Comparisons Give Us an Even Better Idea of Our Great Possibilities of the Country.

Canadians have the greatest and richest country in [illegible] Their confidence [illegible] can be pardoned in matter from the [illegible] Considered after [illegible] compared with [illegible] of 3,000,000 square miles, larger than all the following States at the time: New York, 49,170 square miles; Massachusetts, 8,000 square miles; New Jersey, 7,815 square miles; Connecticut, 4,990 square miles; Rhode Island, 1,250 square miles; Delaware, 2,050 square miles; Maryland, 12,210 square miles; District of Columbia, 170 square miles; Hawaiian Islands, 6,500 square miles; Porto Rico, 3,600 square miles, or a total of 210,130 square miles. After including the above [illegible] and still afford to be generous, and leave room for another State as large as New Jersey, with 7,815 square miles, and still have some 4,000 square miles to spare. Not if the only comparison Quebec is nearly 9,000 square miles larger than the Province of Ontario, containing 228,000 square miles. The two Provinces named, with British Columbia, possessing an area of 368,300 square miles, total 821,200 square miles, and is as large as all of the following Western States, viz.: Colorado, 103,925 square miles; Idaho, 84,800 square miles; Illinois, 56,650 square miles; Iowa, 56,025 square miles; Kansas, 80,080 square miles; Michigan, 58,915 square miles; Minnesota, 83,365 square miles; Ohio, 41,060 square miles; Oregon, 96,030 square miles; North Dakota, 70,795 square miles; Utah, 84,970 square miles; leaving 15,000 square miles to spare. Our Northwest Territory alone comprises 906,000 square miles, this area added to the three provinces already named, gives a total of 1,730,500 square miles or by the way of still further comparison, an area of western territory larger than Alaska, by 577,500 square miles. But a larger part of Canada still remains to be considered, viz.: Manitoba, 73,956 square miles; Assiniboia, 95,000 square miles; Saskatchewan, 107,092 square miles; Alberta, 107,092 square miles; Keewatin, 242,000 square miles; Athabasca, 106,000 square miles; Athabasca, 101,000 square miles; Territory north of Keewatin and south of Hudson Bay, 150,000 square miles, and Northwest Territory not connected in above, 300,000 square miles; Great Lakes and River St. Lawrence, not included in above, 17,000 square miles; Prince Edward Island, 2,000 square miles; New Brunswick, 28,200 square miles; Nova Scotia, 20,000 square miles. Dance, or chorea, is one of the most pitiable afflictions humanity is called on to endure. That this disease can be cured, however, is proven by the fact that it has been cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The tranquillizing effect upon the nerves exercised by this remarkable medicine is witnessed to by thousands who have found healing and strength in its use. It not only cures womanly diseases, but it promotes the health of the whole body. It is a nerve-feeding, strength-giving, sleep-inducing medicine. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics. It cannot disagree with the weakest or most delicate constitution.

BACKACHE.

One of the Most Puzzling of Disorders to Account For.

Pain in the back is one of the commonest of the ills afflicting humanity, and at the same time it is often one of the most difficult to relieve and the most puzzling to trace to its origin. It is a symptom of many acute diseases, such as spinal meningitis, smallpox, malaria, influenza, and so forth, but in such cases it is of short duration, and its cause is usually evident.

The backache of gallstone, renal colic or simple stomach ache is also an acute affair and disappears rapidly when the gallstone or kidney stone is passed or the distalence relieved.

It is different, however, with the chronic form, which so often defies all the skill and ingenuity of the physician and exhausts the patience of the sufferer with its persistence and wearying, boring, wrenching pain.

The conditions which may produce this chronic backache are so numerous that a mere catalogue of them would fill the space allotted to this article, and we can refer only to the most frequent of them.

The pain may be due to disease in the spine itself, in the spinal cord, in the back muscles or in the abdominal cavity. Pott's disease of the spine (hunchback) and cancer of the vertebræ are the most and malt liquors, and all drinkable liquors which are intoxicating.

Druggists' wholesale and retail licenses may be issued for the sale of these in specified quantities.

Under a wholesale license alcohol to the quantity of two gallons may be sold to any person for mechanical and scientific purposes, and "liquor" to the quantity of five gallons to any physician or retail druggist.

Under a retail license a druggist may sell liquor to private individuals under bona-fide prescriptions. Dentists may purchase one pint per professional use only, and veterinary surgeons two gallons. Clergymen are permitted to purchase wine to the amount of two gallons for sacramental purposes.

All purchasers of liquor, with the exception of clergymen are required to make affidavits.

A sick person is allowed to keep liquor in his room if prescribed for him, but the most not let any other person drink it.

Nothing in the Act shall prevent the manufacture of liquor for export to another province or a foreign country, or for sale by a licensee under the Act.

Clubs and societies are prohibited from having liquor on their premises.

The Act contains no provision against the importation of liquors or the consumption in a private dwelling house of such liquors purchased outside the Province. Boarding and lodging houses are defined as public places where consumption is prohibited.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A despatch from Manilla to Washington says that Captain Walker and the regiment of scouts recently captured seven rifles. This means that the back of the Filipino insurrection is now broken.

A fat man who died recently in New York moved to choose near the cemetery when he found his end was coming, so that his friends would not suffer in carrying his to the grave. He weighed 500 pounds, and at the funeral it took twelve big strong men to carry his coffin.

The United States must be going right on the all round-born-free-and-equal business, for the government have allowed the census of the goddess of Liberty statue to go out. That Anglo-Japanese alliance must have disgusted Uncle Sam, or else he is tired of making a bluff at republicanism while the politicians were doing all in their power to found an oligarchy on the Boer plan.

The government of Chili are willing to warmly welcome any number of Boers who wish to leave South Africa at the termination of the war. A free grant of 175 acres of land is offered to settlers.

THE CARE OF BABIES.

A Great Responsibility Rests on all Mothers Baby should Always be Bright and Cheerful.

Babies that are well, sleep well, eat well, act well and play well. A child that is not lively, rosy-cheeked and playful, needs immediate attention or the results may be serious. Prudent mothers should always keep ready at hand a safe yet effective medicine to administer to their little ones at emergency times. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets do not act as the so-called "soothing" medicines do. They do not have a deadening or stupefying effect, but on the contrary go right to the seat of the trouble and by removing it cure the child and prevent a recurrence of the difficulty. All mothers who have used this medicine praise it and always keep it in the house. Mrs. G. Bunce, Six Mile Lake, Ont., says: "The Baby's Own Tablets which I ordered came just in time. My baby was very ill with indigestion and bowel trouble, but I am happy to say the Tablets relieved him after a few dose and he is now doing splendidly, with just a tooth now and then when a little restless. I am the mother of eight children and I must say I have never had a medicine I thought as much of as Baby's Own Tablets. I think mothers ought always to keep them in the house in case of emergency."

These tablets cure all the minor ailments of children such as constipation, sour stomach, colic disorders, indigestion and simple fever. They break up colds, prevent croup, and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. They are for children of all ages, and dissolved in water can be given with absolute safety to the youngest infant. Sold by all druggists at 25 cents a box, or sent post paid on receipt of price, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Why Longer Hands Are Barred.

When a member of the Royal family comes to dinner it is a point of etiquette, as all side readers know, to provide none but the illustrious guest with a finger bowl at the end of the banquet. The other diners must get on somehow without that convenience. The reason is a curious one. In early Georgian days one never knew who was loyal, every other man, might be a Jacobite in his secret heart. Now, it was a piece of Jacobite ritual whenever the toast of "The King" was drunk secretly to pass the goblet over any water that happened to be by the drinker. This was supposed to convert the toast into that of "The King over the Water," the exiled Stuart at Rome or St. Germains. On this becoming known the court insisted that there should be no water within reach of any guest, and the prohibition still holds.—The London News.

Career and Character of Abraham Lincoln

An address by Joseph Choate, Ambassador to Great Britain, on the career and character of Abraham Lincoln—his early life—his early struggles with the world—his character as developed in the later years of his life and his administration, which placed his name so high on the world's roll of honor and fame, has been published by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway and may be had by sending six (6) cents in postage to F. ### Doubtful Compliments.

The colonel who, taking his leave at a garden party, inquires, "Have I had the pleasure of saying goodby to you, Miss Mary?" the hostess sweetly assuring a distinguished pianist who has risen abruptly from the instrument with a sarcastic protest lest he should disturb the conversation that he does not do so at all; the young man who, on being told that a possible rival had taken the lady who is speaking in to dinner the previous evening, declares that "that's all he's fit for?"—these are decided instances of this class of bad compliment; while for a well meant but lukewarm one poor Newman Noggs' reply to the collector's query respecting the Kenwigs' new baby, that it wasn't a very nasty one, may be cited.—All the Year Round.

The Classes.

"The inhabitants of the city," remarked the able person who learnedly discusses sociologic and other profound questions, "are divided into two classes—those who own their houses and those who pay rent, and"—

"Excuse me," interrupted the real estate agent, who doesn't know a thing about sociology and doesn't want to, "what about those who would rather move than pay rent?"—Detroit Free Press.

Forcing the Fight.

She—You must take supper with us tonight, and then you can ask my father for my hand.

He—Do you think it will be a good time?

She—Excellent. The girl is away, and I shall cook the supper. He won't risk having me stay around to try it again.

KINDNESS OF HEART.

A TRAIT OF CHARACTER OF WHICH THE QUEEN HAS ABUNDANCE.

Anecdotes Concerning the Consort of His Majesty King Edward VII—Her Majesty Wins All Hearts by Her Inexpressibly Delightful Spontaneity—Suits the Action to the Need Presented to Her.

Anecdotes concerning Queen Alexandra, and illustrating the sympathetic charm of her personality, are numerous. As Princess of Wales she has officiated at more public functions and has mingled more generally with her subjects than might have been the case had her husband succeeded to the throne early in their married life, so that ample opportunity has been hers to display the traits which have endeared her so widely, and the English people have grown to feel intimately acquainted with her.

A story is told concerning a visit paid by the Princess to Cambridge, and of how "an undergraduate, in imitation of Raleigh's gallantry to Queen Elizabeth, spread his gown on the pathway for the Princess to walk on. She paused for a moment as if puzzled or startled by this sudden act of superfluous devotion; but when one of the suite had whispered a word of explanation, it was charming to see how seriously she lifted her dress to show the dragon and rather abashed proprietor of the purple toga of Trinity that she was actually setting her foot on the gown, bowing her acknowledgments to him at the same time." The observer who narrated this incident added, concerning the way in which the Princess won all hearts: "The true secret lies in the faultless simplicity of manner, in the openness and unrestrainedness of her enjoyment. . . . There is something inexpressibly delightful in this spontaneousness."

Illustrative of Alexandra's kindness of heart, in which she so much resembles the late Queen, it is told how she entered the hall of Marlborough House one day shortly before Christmas, and noticed a young girl standing there, whose appearance betokened delicacy and who busily wearied. Her Royal Highness went to her at once, and learned that she was the bearer of some little ornaments which had been ordered for the royal children. Pleased with the modest manner of the girl, who did not know that the kind and gentle lady was the Princess, Alexandra led the way to her own room, where she examined the work and made inquiries by which she gained the information that the bearer had executed most of it herself. The conversation thus begun gradually revealed that she had an invalid mother who remained alone at home during the long hours when she was compelled to work in a shop, and that the sewing machine recently had been new had made her desire to become a skillful operator, in order that she might earn enough money to own a machine of her own some day, and thus be able to keep her mother company while at work.

The Princess summoned a servant, and ordered a bottle of wine, biscuits, oranges and other invalid delicacies packed and brought to her, meanwhile writing down with her own hand the address of the girl's mother. Then she dismissed the girl with a kindly word, and a present of money, and sent her home in a carriage.

HOLYROOD PALACE.

Rumored Revival of Entertainments to Be Made by the King—Glad Scottish Hearts.

Many a Scottish heart has been stirred by the mere rumor that once again scenes of royal pageantry and kingly entertainment may be enacted within the walls of Holyrood Palace, says The London Telegraph. The very name is eloquent of bygone days. Picturesque memories cluster around the old grey walls, which have seen so many deeds of derring-do and high emprise. With them is bound up indissolubly the sad story of the Stuarts, some of whom were born, married, died and were buried within the palace. Parliaments and councils charged with the fate of the nation deliberated in its rooms. Edward Balliol there made submission to Edward III. of England. There the Scottish Kings made their home for centuries, and there, above all, linger cherished traditions, however indefensible in historic judgment, of the beautiful and unhappy Mary Queen of Scots and the Bonnie Prince Charlie. To this day Queen Mary's audience chamber, her tiny bedroom, and still tinier sapping room, where her favorite Rizzio was struck down under her eyes, are among the most venerated of the historic shrines of Scotland.

It is about time to be that a British king again summons his Scottish subjects to meet him within its walls the invitation will have a certain poetic fitness, for within the palace was celebrated the union of the Castle and the Rose—the marriage of James IV. of Scotland to Margaret Tudor, which, after a hundred years' feud of strife, brought the union of the crowns. The palace has in its time witnessed plays. In 1561 and 1647 English armies held it, and though it was restored to its old victim in 1745, which beheld Oliver Cromwell, soldier and statesman, Agnes, Queen Dowager of England was crowned Queen of Scots; King James VI. of the Scots, and Charles I. were crowned Charles I. of England, and James VII., Duke of Albany, held court within the palace as Viceroy, holding levees, giving dinners, and generally keeping up the state of a king. Here Prince Charles Edward, grandson of James VII., held court during the memorable winter of 1745-6, when he made Holyrood his headquarters during the time he was preparing for his march into England.

Queen Victoria visited Holyrood on various occasions, especially when her consort was still spared to her. She then made it a halting place for a few days on her way to and from Balmoral, but the palace was a residence rather than a court. State functions were few and limited for the most part to the romantic ceremony of the presentation to Her Majesty of the keys of the city by the Lord Provost and magistrates, and of three barbed arrows by the company of archers, the royal bodyguard in Scotland, a ceremony dating from 1676. The Queen stayed in Holyrood on the occasion of the great review of Scottish volunteers in 1881, and made the last time royalty slept within the walls—in 1886, when Her Majesty opened Edinburgh International Exhibition. Year by year the palace is the seat

THE SCOTCH STILLS.

HOW THEIR BY-PRODUCTS ARE POLLUTING THE RIVERS.

"Pot Ale," the Liquor Left After the First Distillation, Is the Worst, as It Carries About 3,000 Grains of Suspended and Dissolved Solids to the Gallon.

There are 164 distilleries in Scotland, and an increasingly difficult problem in connection with them is how to get rid of the by-products of distillation. One of these by-products is what is known as "pot ale," which is the liquor left after the first distillation. It is a most obstinate and complex compound, as brown as peaty water. It becomes putrid and smells badly after a brief contact with the air. It is a highly nitrogenous liquor, carrying 3,000 grains a gallon of suspended and dissolved solids—about thirty or forty times as much solid matter as ordinary sewage contains. It has been run into the River Spey where the Glenlivet distilleries have sprung like mushrooms during the last few years, until the noble salmon river has been all but ruined. The riparian proprietors, however, by raising actions in the law courts to compel distilleries to put a stop to the pollution, have greatly paralyzed the whisky trade in that part of the country.

Several plans have been tried to utilize this "pot ale" as a feeding stuff for cattle and as a manure. Hitherto none of these plans has proved a commercial success. The process which has thus best stood the test of experiment is that which is known as the "intermittent system" of filtration, [illegible] adopted by [illegible] ask. In the process a series of seven tanks in duplicate are used. These are so arranged on the face of a steep slope by the side of the distillery that the liquor in the purifier passes from the one to the other by gravitation. There is also on the top of the bank, above all the others, a receiving tank, capable of holding 2,500 gallons. To this the "pot ale" is pumped up from a settling and storage tank at the low level.

The first five tanks are filled with cinders of various grades in size, while the two lowermost tanks are filled with fine sand. In the cinder tanks are seeded with microbes [illegible] the work of these innumerable unseen and silent workers is marvelous. ### Forests of Boxwood in Turkey.

The Levant Herald of recent days says that although large forests of boxwood, which is so largely used by wood engravers, exists in the neighborhood of the villages of Kosovo and Monastir, Turkey, the trade in this wood was little known in the Salonica market until quite recently. During March last two large shipments of boxwood were made to Liverpool, England, and the owners of these forests are now preparing to work them on a larger scale.

The Farm Crops of Ireland.

Potatoes have ceased to be the principal root crop of Ireland. If they are to be compared with turnips by weight of yield — last year, for example, only about 1,812,000 tons, against 4,126,000 tons of turnips. Nor was the potato acreage much twice as great as that of the coarser root, nearly 1,000,000 acres given to any crop. That of oats was larger by 450,000 acres. The total product of oats was much greater than the Scotch and Welsh put together, and amounted to 561,000,000 bushels, against 73,000,000 bushels raised in England.

What has to be deplored nowadays in Irish agriculture is not dependence on a single crop, but a general tendency to a shrinkage in area of all arable land. In spite of an increase of 46,000 acres devoted to mangel wurtzel and beet, the cultivated land has been one of 32 per cent. since 1855.

The distinctively Irish crop of flax has lost ground since 1870 to the extent of nearly 75 per cent. Land either becomes meadow, or, more largely, goes out of cultivation. In any circumstances it is gratifying to see that a rally to flax last year was rewarded by an exceptionally fine harvest. As compared with the year before, the area [illegible] by 42 per cent, greater and the yield 42 per cent. greater. Much more than twice as much home grown flax was [illegible] on the average which [illegible] [illegible]

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT BILL

Draught of the Bill to Buy Out the C. P. & E. Co.

A copy of the Bill which has been introduced into the Ontario Legislature at the instance of the Rat Portage town council, has been received and it is given below:

Whereas, the corporation of the municipality of the Town of Rat Portage have petitioned praying that an Act may be passed: (1) to confirm and legalize a by-law of the municipality of the Town of Rat Portage passed on the 26th day of August, 1901, entitled "By-law No. 316. A by-law to provide for the issue of debentures for the Town of Rat Portage to the amount of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) and to raise the sum required therefor for the purpose of making connections in and improving the system of waterworks therein," and the debentures issued under and

Vigorous Womanhood

Made Perfect by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food—A Common Sense Treatment which Does Exactly What is Claimed for it.

The happiness of every home depends very largely on the health of the wife and mother. If she is nervous, peevish and irritable, worried by the little cares of every day life, and tormented by pains and irregularities that are sure to accompany a rundown system, there can be no happiness in the home for husband and children.

Too many women are victims of nervous exhaustion, and do not know it. They suffer from indigestion and dyspepsia, nervous headache and sleeplessness, and drag themselves about the house feeling tired and tired out. You can be healthy and vigorous if you follow the advice of Dr. Chase, the famous Receipt Book author. He would not deceive you, and his treatment never disappoints. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is intended for just such cases as are here described. By supplying to the thin, watery blood and weak, exhausted nerves the very materials of which nature constructs new nerve cells and new bodily tissue it gradually and certainly reconstructs and revitalizes the weakened and debilitated nervous system, cures nervous headaches and dyspepsia, and permanently overcomes weakness and irregularities. 50 cts a box, all dealers, or Edmanson Bates & Co., Toronto.
